He suggested further the placing of six additional hydrants in the center of the city, also an extra crew of firemen at the fire stations and the purchase of two more horses. This report was never made public and had never been brought to the attention of the aldermen.

SUSPICION OF PLOT WAS DEVELOPED

Only Negligence of Attorney General Prevented Prolongation of the Mary Rogers Affair Through a Technicality.

Bellows Falls, Feb. 21.—Suspicion of a plot to prolong the life of Mary Rogers through a legal technicality was brought out yesterday before the special investigating committee which is looking into the case of the fugitive. It developed that but for a mere chance Mrs. Rogers could not have been legally hanged December 8 and that some one either through lack of judgment, knowledge or pure intent was responsible. The discovery by Attorney-General Fitts that the citation issued by Prison Superintendent W. S. Lovell of Windsor prison, where Mrs. Rogers was confined, was drawn contrary to the usual and accepted method and the prompt action on his part in demanding a second citation in proper form alone made a legal hanging possible at the date named by Governor Ball.

The investigating committee after a session at Windsor Monday, where plans for improved sewerage at the prison were discussed, came here and held what is probably the last session of the Windsor investigating committee, and with the examination of one witness at Rutland today the commissioners' report will be made up.

Supt. W. S. Lovell of Windsor prison was the only important witness examined. He testified in regard to the returns of the Mary Rogers case that after signing the citation, he was told that Mrs. Rogers was in solitary confinement, the attorneys of Mrs. Rogers, seared witness by saying he might get into trouble.

Undecided what to do, witness said that he finally went to Judge Waterman of Brattleboro, a distinguished party, who advised him similarly to her attorneys. When Fitts learned of it he had the returns made over in which solitary confinement was changed to close confinement, as it was against the statutes to place her in solitary confinement, and starting features was his testimony in regard to Mr. Lovell's accepting service from Mrs. Rogers' attorneys, which was brought out by the testimony of the witness that her attorneys offered him service of a citation, which he accepted, on their statement that it would cut down the sentence.

Mr. Lovell was not aware of the nature of the document which was worded to the effect that the case of Mary Rogers would be entered at the supreme court the first day of the term. This differed from the usual citation in that instead of 30 days after date it read the first day of the term. The result of this would have been that the case would have been entered then, and when the necessary time for the motion to be made had elapsed, it would have brought the hearing after the Thanksgiving recess, and a decision could not possibly have been made before December 5, the date of execution. This would have necessitated again relieving the condemned woman. Attorney-General Fitts discovered what Mr. Lovell had done in time, and caused another citation to be drawn. The witness said he had been doing what he did, but he was not aware of the serious results.

TRIED AND FAILED.

France Said to Have Offered Reconciliation to Germany.

Paris, Feb. 21.—A diplomatic aide today to a Publishers Press correspondent regarding the Moroccan situation: "We have tried conciliation with Germany and it did not succeed and now we will stand firm." It is reported in parliament circles that this attitude which France has assumed is due to an indication from England, that she was contemplating the "Entente cordiale" by making too many concessions before Germany. Possibility of war is again discussed.

Camp Fire.

At the camp fire held last evening Corporal James Tanner, Commander in Chief of the G. A. R., was the chief speaker.

With reference to the negro, Corporal Tanner said he should be able to read the constitution before he was allowed to vote, and continuing, Corporal Tanner said he would apply that rule also to every white man. He also said that he would be glad to see the influence of the rif-raff which comes into the country through immigration and replied to his own question by saying that the ballot should be given to the women. By doing this he said the criminal and ignorant vote of the land would be taken from the school and brought nearer to the school house.

With reference to the cost of war he said it made him hot under the collar to hear men talking of the cost and figuring it out in dollars and cents. The great cost is in the lives of the young men of the North and South. He paid a tribute to President Lincoln, saying he was the greatest man of our time, barring none.

He was born in Lyndon Center on January 26, 1827, and resided for a time in Waterbury Center, Morrisville and Westford. For a time he was a merchant, then farmer and later real estate dealer. He retired from business fifteen years ago. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Van Ness Burke, and four sons, Orson, Elmer, Frank and George Leiland and Mason S. Supt. TO HAVE NEW STORE.

The Perley E. Pope Co. of Montpelier to Move into Larger Quarters.

About two years ago Perley E. Pope resigned his position as manager of the Fitts store in Montpelier and went into business in Montpelier where they were doing a small business in a good old fashioned way. Mr. Pope's friends were skeptical of the success that could be made of an up-to-date business in such quarters but from the time he changed the sign over the door he commenced to hustle and business began to boom. The consequences are he has the fastest growing dry goods business in these parts. That enterprise and natural adaptability are the chief reasons for his success there can be no doubt. Women have learned to know the advertising that the latest things and latest prices are characteristic of his store and the consequences are women from all the surrounding towns are buying dry goods of the Perley E. Pope Co.

The new store will be modern in every way and as Mr. Pope is to supervise the building it is likely to say it will be a well appointed finely equipped store giving him about eight times as much room as he now has. When asked what he attributed the success of his business to he said, the right goods at the right time, advertised in the right way, through the advertising that the latest things and latest prices are characteristic of his store and the consequences are women from all the surrounding towns are buying dry goods of the Perley E. Pope Co.
